Fire destroys apartment in Glades Glen

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A four-bedroom apartment in Glades Glen, originally Palm Glade Apartments, received close to $20,000 in damages to the apartment and its contents last week. According to Belle Glade Fire Department Chief Tony Tuliano, one child in the apartment had been playing with matches. The upstairs apartment fire was contained in one of the bedrooms but according to the chief, the entire apartment suffered extreme heat, smoke and water damage. Another four-bedroom apartment downstairs suffered water damage.

Chief Tuliano said everyone was safely out of the apartment when fire personnel arrived.

"That was a big structure fire," said the chief, who said 19 fire personnel responded to the scene. According to the chief, smoke and fire could be seen from the roadway. Henry Jenkins and his wife, Sandra, were at the hospital with one of their kids at the time of the fire. However, the apartment was occupied by the couple's other children and when the oldest child noticed the fire, she quickly got her siblings out of the apartment. She then pulled the telephone out of the front door and into the hallway where she called 911. The 12-year-old child also pulled the fire alarm, alerting the other residents in the 1200 unit of the apartment complex.

According to Heather Love, American Red Cross West County Service Center director, the family lost a great amount of their belongings. "Basically everything is gone," said Mrs. Love.

The Red Cross is providing assistance for the two displaced families. The family whose apartment was involved in the fire are presently staying at the Okeechobee Inn, South Bay. They have also been provided with clothing and food. The family whose apartment received water damage opted to temporarily move in with local family residents but the Red Cross has also assisted them with food and clothing.

Assisting the families who were displaced because of the fire, the Red Cross has spent thus far:

Clothing - $985.00
Food - $545.00
Shelter - $1,053.00

* Persons wishing to make financial contributions are asked to contact Mrs. Love at the West County Service Center, 992-9703.

5 Glades residents injured in one-car accident

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

A one-car accident on State Road 80, 16 miles east of Belle Glade, sent five local residents to the hospital as the Trauma Hawk had to land on life highway and assist those injured.

According to Florida Highway Patrol reports, Latonia Polite, 20, was traveling westbound on S.R. 80 on the outside lane. The vehicle drifted onto the shoulder and as she attempted to steer the vehicle back onto the roadway, she overcorrected herself. Upon doing so, the vehicle rotated counter clockwise and flipped at least three times before coming to rest in the median facing an upright position.

Police was ejected from the vehicle and landed on the eastbound inside lane of S.R. 80.

Reports indicate no one in the vehicle was wearing a seat belt. Troopers also stated the accident was not alcohol related.

Troopers said Police's 1993 Jeep Cherokee received an estimated $20,000 in damage as a result of the accident.

Police's 2-year-old daughter was also injured in the accident, however she was released from St. Mary's Hospital the following day.

Also injured in the accident were Tasha Kyle, 19, of Pahokee, 16-month-old James D. Steele of Pahokee, and Loretta Hill, 19, of Pahokee.

At newspaper press time, Police was in intensive care at St. Mary's Hospital. The other passengers were taken to Palms West Hospital where they were treated and released.

Residents participate in city-wide cleanup

90,000 lbs. of trash collected in cleanup

Tammy Jackson
Staff Reporter

In an effort to beautify the city's appearance, Belle Glade residents participated in a city-wide cleanup last Thursday.

Approximately 1,000 students from Lake Middle School participated in the clean-up and focused on beautifying Martin Luther King Blvd., Sixth Street, Fifth Street, and Fourth and Third Streets.

Employees with the Belle Glade Sanitation Department, along with Belle Glade City Commissioners, Glades Correctional Institution Corrections Officers, LSMS faculty and administrators, and Belle Glade Mayor Steve Weeks and City Manager Lomax Harrell donned gloves and actively pulled garbage containers. Numerous students worked in groups as they used the "buddy system" in an effort to accomplish the task in a more efficient manner. While one picked up trash, the other held and carried the bags.

After the final bags were collected and thrown in trash bins, the total weight of garbage collected for that day alone was close to 70,000 pounds. The Thursday cleanup was spearheaded by LSMS Principal Richard Ramsey.

Due to the one-day success of the cleanup, Lester Finney spearheaded another cleanup on Saturday. Close to 50 people participated and trash collected on that day equaled 20,000 pounds.

The cleanup, known as the Great Florida Cleanup, was sponsored by Beautiful Palm Beaches, the Solid Waste Authority, and the City of Belle Glade. Students received T-shirts, caps and colors for their day of hard, dedicated work to improve the image and the appearance of the city.

Bank robbers caught after robbing Barnett Bank

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

A robber passed a note demanding money from Barnett Bank March 29, about 10 a.m., but didn't get far with the loot before police caught up with him and his three companions after they fled in a car.

Belle Glade Police Officers responded within minutes to the call at the bank on South Main Street, Belle Glade. When bank officials called police they were able to give the dispatcher a detailed description of the suspect and car, including the tag number, and all available police officers on duty were alerted about the theft.

Police say within seven minutes of the initial call, the car was seen and stopped by officers in the 1500 block of S.W. Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard. In the car was Robert Thomas, 26, also known as "Rah Rah," of 561 S.W. Eighth Street, Apt. 1, Belle Glade, Arretha B. Whorton, 33, of 195 N.W. Eleventh Avenue, Apt. 1, South Bay, Curtis Sattley, 34, of 275 N.W. Teht Avenue, South Bay and a 17-year-old, also from South Bay.

Bank officials later identified Thomas as the man who robbed the bank. The majority of the money stolen from the bank during the robbery was found in the car, hidden under the front passenger's seat. Some of the stolen money was also found on the other suspects.

Over $300 was taken in the robbery attempt. All four of the people involved in the robbery were taken to the Palm Beach County Jail. Thomas was charged with the robbery and the others were charged with robbery and grand theft.

Thomas was also found to be wanted in Okeechobee County on a felony warrant for uttering a forged instrument. He is in jail awaiting trial on another robbery charge that occurred in Okeechobee County. Bond for Whorton and Sattley was set at $5,000 each. The juvenile was taken to the Juvenile Detention Center in West Palm Beach to await trial.

Black Gold kicks off with children's contest

By Brenda Bunting
Editor

In the world of children, bananas are white and little girls can grow up to be daddies - at least according to some of the little boys and girls participating in last Thursday night's Tiny and Little Mr. and Miss Black Gold Jubilee. Mistress of Ceremonies Cathy Lee asked squirming children questions during the question and answer portion of the event at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center and got some unusual answers.

The event, sponsored again this year by Xi Zeta Mu, a chapter of Beta Sigma Phi International, brought out 42 of the Glades children accompanied by their parents, grandparents and siblings.

In the Tiny Girls Division, winners were: queen, Kayla Christina Collier, first place, Katelyn Elaine Maynor; second place, Kaitlyn Camille Rodriguez; third place, Lucy Lynn Suarez; and fourth place, Natalie Ann Motos.

In the Boy's Tiny Division, winners were: king, Taylor Edward Connell; first place, Robert Julian Hernandez; and second place Jackery Anderson Miller. The winners in the Girl's Little Division were: queen, Montana Elizabeth Sullivan; first place, Doris Alyce Crosby; and second place, Katie Michelle Lallement. Boy's Little Division winners were: king, John Presley Chokik; first place, Michael C. Korby; and second place, Joshua Tripp.

This weekend will also be for children as the Children's Fishing and Casting Contest begins at 9 a.m. at the Belle Glade Marina. Pre-registration for those who haven't already registered begins at 7 a.m.

The main weekend for Black Gold is April 22 and 23. The Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center is sponsoring the main stage entertainment, which will be The Holmes Brothers. See Black Gold, Page 3

Experts have no proof of global warming

By Mike Lyons

There is no smoking gun. No scientist is jumping up and down yelling "eureka." In other words, there is no proof that global warming is taking place. There is, however, a growing accumulation of evidence that may prove the earth is becoming a very warm place.

For example, the temperature has been rising in one of the coldest places in the world: Antarctica. Just the other day, a chunk of ice measuring 48 miles by 22 miles broke off the Larsen Ice Shelf.

In the Pacific Ocean, a 50,000 square mile region has lost 80 percent of its zooplankton. Zooplankton is the name for the microscopic organisms near the base of the food chain. Scientists report virtually no fish in the waters and hardly any birds. The absence of zooplankton may be due to an increase in water temperature.

The weather pattern called El Niño continues in the Pacific. El Niño is the name given to a large, warmer than normal body of water that disrupts weather patterns. California's recent record rains and snows are a direct result of El Niño. This particular El Niño has lasted longer than any expert thought was possible.

Again, none of these reports prove global warming is taking place. But, what if the world was getting warmer? What would it mean to us in Florida?

The most dramatic change would be a smaller state. Global warming would lead to a historic rise in the level of the sea. The result would be more ocean and less beach. One estimate has the level of the sea rising over 36 inches near Miami by the year 2100. That same estimate indicates it would cost the city $600 million to avoid complete devastation.

Another change would be the loss of our coral reefs. A major increase in the water temperature could have a devastating effect on the coral. In 1987, coral reefs in the Keys were damaged when ocean temperatures rose just two degrees.

Global warming would lead to long, hot, dry summers. The temperatures would be going up and a lot less rain would be coming down. Droughts would be more common. Less water would lead to a decrease in soil moisture producing a change in vegetation and wildlife distribution in the state. Citrus plants, for example, could be grown in the panhandle.

Surprisingly, global warming would be beneficial to many of Florida's crops. Lettuce, tomatoes and other vegetables would grow quicker and longer from an enriched carbon dioxide environment. Orange trees would be huge.

So would hurricanes. Dr. Robert Sheets, the Director of the National Hurricane Center, says global warming would have a big impact on tropical systems. He predicts that there would be more of them and they would tend to be very large and powerful. In addition, the hurricane season would last much longer, perhaps nine months instead of six.

Again, there is no conclusive proof that global warming is taking place at the present time. But, if it is, it could lead to dramatic changes in our state and our world for coming generations.

Heartburn Hotel

Can you name a common malady that can occur in babies, children, teens, "baby boomers" and senior citizens alike? I'll give you a few hints: it causes a burning sensation behind the breastbone, nausea, belching, and a sore throat from acid back-up. Experts estimate that as many as 70 percent of emergency room patients who think they're having a heart attack are actually having this. That's right, it's good, old fashioned heartburn, otherwise known as acid indigestion, or gastroesophageal reflux.

It's caused by a backflow of stomach acids into the esophagus. When food is swallowed, it travels down a long "food tube" called the esophagus, and a valve (sphincter) at the bottom relaxes to allow the food to enter the stomach. The valve normally only allows food to move downward, but when the sphincter muscle weakens or the pressure in the lower esophagus drops, a burning sensation can occur. As we get older, it seems to affect us more and more. I know I'm asking for trouble when I eat anything late at night, because when I lie down to sleep, the heartburn really hits, like a ton of bricks!

When we overeat, drink alcohol, smoke, and/or eat fatty or spicy foods, it can lead to acid indigestion. It can usually be diagnosed relatively easy, and treated by over-the-counter antacids. However, prevention is the best approach to controlling heartburn. Eat small meals and avoid or cut back on aspirin, coffee, tea, cigarettes, and alcohol. Avoid wearing tight belts and other constrictive clothing. Wait at least two hours before lying down after eating. Also, avoid bending over immediately after a meal. Propping up with extra pillows or elevating the head of the bed can also be helpful.

If the pain is unusually severe and is accompanied by nausea or vomiting, numbness in a limb, or a cold, clammy sensation, it may be a heart attack instead of heartburn. If these symptoms occur, seek immediate emergency medical aid. A doctor should be consulted if heartburn occurs on a regular basis (two or three times a week). He might order a series of tests and/or x-rays to examine the upper digestive tract. If left untreated, severe heartburn can cause erosion of the esophagus, and lead to other major problems like a peptic ulcer. So until next time, stay informed and stay healthy.

Caller has more to say about prisoners sleeping on the floor

"Yes, I too feel like the prisoners have too many luxuries. If they can't afford more beds and cots for the prisoners, how about getting rid of the exercise equipment, the colored televisions and the VCR and take that money and buy them a cot to sleep on. A lot of families in our community can not afford VCRs or televisions. A lot of families in our community also have little children or someone in their family who are sleeping on cots.

A lot of them are having to go without seeing doctors and other things that the prisoners are provided. So, let's take their luxuries away and buy them a cot to sleep on.

Thank you very much."

Sen. Rossin believes new legislation will help victims

State Senator Tom Rossin (Dem-West Palm Beach, guided a piece of criminal prosecution legislation through the Senate Criminal Justice Committee which he says will change the way Florida prosecutes criminals. His bill, SB 310, will allow prosecutors to combine separate criminal offenses under one single criminal prosecution - saving the state considerable time and money in administering our court system.

An example of how this bill will enable prosecutors to seek maximum penalties for society's most dangerous criminals would be in the case of a serial child molester. Under current State Supreme Court procedural rules, the offender would have to be tried separately for each child he molests - extending the pain and suffering of each victim. This has resulted in the outright dismissal of charges, and consequently, criminals have served less time than they would had they been tried and convicted for each offense.

"I firmly believe we should seek full prosecution for each of these terrifying acts," said Sen. Rossin. "Charges against a child molester or rapist should not be dismissed simply because bureaucratic rules greatly hinder our ability to fully prosecute these predators."

With this bill, prosecutors will be able to join each separate criminal act into one trial. Not only will this save the expense of multiple trials, but it will result in criminals serving longer sentences as a result of the higher number of convictions.

Speaking in favor of the legislation were representatives from the State Attorney's Association and the Attorney General.

Chamber thanks participants in I Love Pahokee Day event

Dear Editor:

The I Love Pahokee/Pahokee Pride Day held recently was a tremendous success. According to Chairperson Rosemary Bunn, more than 300 adults, youth and children walked the streets picking up trash on Saturday, March 25.

The Little Big Foot Boutique donated "Trash Buster" t-shirts to the first 100 depositing their trash bags. The Solid Waste Authority provided free disposal plus all of the trash bags and lots of give-aways. B.F.I./County Sanitation was extremely cooperative by providing three large roll-off containers, the trucking service and their employees.

They also donated cash prizes to those picking up and depositing the most bags.

Other sponsors were the City of Pahokee, Mayor Ramon Horta, the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce, Everglades Regional Medical Center, Everglades Trading Company, Gilbert's Jewelers and Gifts, Beautiful Palm Beaches, Town Star, U.S. Sugar, Video Movies, Foodland, WSWN, Good Shepherd Church and First Union Bank.

Thanks to the many volunteers and donors for a successful campaign. Future clean-up projects are already being planned.

Sincerely,

Alice Thompson
Executive Secretary

Schools falling behind as House threatens the technology funds

Citing $65 million in proposed budget cuts for technology, U.S. Secretary of Education Richard W. Riley said the message to the nation's youth is loud and clear: "Kids, you're on your own."

In remarks to the second annual Secretary's Conference on Educational Technology, Mr. Riley said, "Everywhere we look, on the job or at home, when we communicate, travel, or seek entertainment, technology is rapidly changing the way we work and live. Everywhere that is, except in our schools."

Proposals to eliminate 75 percent of the Education Department's budget for technology "are severe, shortsighted and with apparently little thought as to who would suffer," Mr. Riley said.

Speaking to state teams of teachers, technology experts and policy makers, Mr. Riley said, "Technology offers students the tools to learn to challenge standards, a means of opening opportunities for every student to learn more, and a way to ensure equitable and affordable access to increase knowledge and a lifetime of learning." He cited examples of schools where "technology is making an extraordinary difference in the lives of students." For example, with an Internet connection and financial support from Drake University, students at North High School in Des Moines, Iowa, "now have access to some of the best libraries and most sophisticated resources in the world," he said.

Mr. Riley also referred to the use of technology at schools in Union City, N.J., and Albuquerque, N.M.

Calling it "the great equalizer," Mr. Riley said, "Technology can take a school in the poorest of communities and provide its students a wealth of learning opportunities that will give them the same intellectual riches that students in the wealthiest school districts have."

Technology, Mr. Riley said, "should help to close the fault lines in our society, not exacerbate divisions between the haves and the have nots."

He described a future where teachers and parents communicate electronically and said, "Families working together at a computer may become what sitting around the fireplace listening to the radio, was 50 years ago."

Mr. Riley said his department "practices what we preach and is a model of technological application. The department offers an online library, known as 'NET', which receives more than 15,000 inquiries a week."

Earlier in the day, Mr. Riley joined Vice President Al Gore at an elementary school in Silver Spring, Md., to announce a competition for "challenge grants," which "will allow individual communities to act on their creative and ambitious vision for education reform through the use of technology."

Mr. Riley said the grants would be eliminated under the House Appropriations Committee rescission proposal, depriving some thousands of the nation's poorest children access to educational technology.

Later this year, Mr. Riley said he will "focus on four essential issues: access and equity; planning and financing school technology; professional development for teachers and staff; and challenging content."

Game and Fresh Water Commission offers new program for women

The Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission is looking for women who are interested in acquiring hunting, fishing and outdoor skills through a new program called "Becoming an Outdoors-Woman."

The program, popular in many other states, is aimed primarily at women who want to learn outdoor skills associated with hunting and fishing, but it includes training that is useful for many other outdoor pursuits. Capt. Ed Tyer, the agency's hunter education coordinator, said,

The first workshop is scheduled for April 21-23 at the Youth Conservation Camp in the Ocala National Forest. The cost is $60, which includes food and lodging at the camp. The workshop is limited to 100 people.

Participants will be able to choose four of the 16 topics offered and will spend four hours on each topic they choose.

Topics include: Introduction to Panfishing, Basic Fly Fishing Techniques, Boating Basics, Canoeing, Deer Hunting Basics, Duck Hunting Techniques, Turkey Hunting Basics, Introduction to the Shooting Sports and Handguns in the Home and Afield, Developing Archery and Bowhunting Skills, Basic Camping Skills, Outdoor Photography, Bird Watching, Reading the Woods, Off-Road Cycling and Developing Wilderness Survival Skills.

New craft store opening in Pahokee

After months of preparation and planning, Lintia Raineri announces the grand opening of her craft store, Gran-Maw's Place.

Gran-Maw's Place will open to the public on Saturday, April 8, at 10 a.m. and will remain open until 5 p.m.

Ms. Raineri is a lifelong resident of Pahokee, mother of Stacy and Carlo, Jr., and has been an employee of Everglades Regional Medical Center for the past 25 years; however, opening her own craft store is her dream come true.

The craft store was named Gran-Maw's Place in loving memory of her two grandmothers, both of whom passed away within the last two years, and both of whom were lovers of arts and crafts.

"They will always be in my heart," Ms. Raineri said. "This store is dedicated to them and is my way of showing both of them how much they were loved, and that they will always be remembered."

The craft store will carry most materials needed for crafting, such as fabrics, quilt batting, paints, lace and ribbons, to name a few.

Ms. Raineri said they if she doesn't have what a customer is longing for, she'll find it for them. She doesn't want her patrons to leave her store dissatisfied, nor does she want them to have to drive to West Palm Beach to locate their crafting needs.

Ms. Raineri extends a warm welcome to everyone to come by Gran-Maw's Place, located at 147 Annona Avenue in Pahokee on Saturday, April 8, to help her in celebrating the store's grand opening. She will be joined by friends and relatives who say they are proud of her accomplishment and want to share in her happiness.

"Granny and Maw-Maw will be there too," Ms. Raineri said, "watching over me and wishing me well."

Diabetes and Dental Care

If your physician has diagnosed you as being diabetic, the physician has probably spoken to you about your diet, proper exercise, and medication. Has the doctor spoken to you about seeing your dentist?

It is important to note that diabetics are four times more prone to gum disease than people without it. Periodontal disease is more severe in the diabetic and often occurs at an earlier age. Evidence has shown that diabetes causes blood vessels to thicken, slowing down the flow of oxygen and vital nutrients. This causes to weaken the resistance of the gums and bone tissue. When diabetes is poorly controlled, high sugar levels in the mouth fluids may encourage the growth of harmful bacteria and lead to periodontal infection. Adults with well controlled diabetes have no more gum disease than the population in general. Control means that a diabetic patient should monitor blood sugar, maintain weight control, check blood pressure, take prescribed medication, watch their diet, and get regular exercise.

Please call our office, we can help you control gum disease.

GFC receiving numerous nuisance wildlife calls

The Everglades Regional Headquarters of the Florida Game and Fresh Water Fish Commission (GFC) in West Palm Beach reports that calls regarding nuisance wildlife are on the upswing. Ninety percent of those calls relate to the masked bandit of the forest-the raccoon.

Breeding season is in full swing and the female raccoons are searching out dens under trailers, pool decks, inside the walls of houses, and other areas they don't belong, according to Tom Stice, a GFC resource biologist.

"This is the time of year when we see a decided increase in wildlife nuisance calls," said Mr. Stice. "Normally the calls are related to raccoons, fox or possums. We are getting 20 to 30 calls a day.

"Many people, especially those from the urban north, aren't use to having wildlife in their backyard," he said. "They see a raccoon during the day and immediately assume that it's sick and needs to be trapped."

"Our agency doesn't have the manpower to go out on most calls," he said. "We can, however, give people technical advice over the phone which should help them deal with the situation."

Tips include:

- Keep your garbage can lids in place and secure with a rubber strap.
- Don't leave your dog or cat food outside.
- Be sure your pool area is screened in to discourage roaming raccoons.
- Don't feed wildlife, especially raccoons.

cially raccoons.

• Contact a permitted nuisance trapper. The GFC can provide a list of the trappers and the telephone numbers.

Mr. Stice said the raccoons will be staying close to their dens through May. A female raccoon can give birth to four or five young that will stay with the mother until the end of summer.

The scientific name for raccoon is Procyon lotor. An adult raccoon can weigh anywhere from 10-30 pounds, and measure up to 3 feet long from the muzzle to the tip of the tail.

Unlike many animal species, the raccoon has learned to thrive in highly-populated areas because of its adaptability.

Pahokee Baptist Academy celebrates 10 years of dedicated service

In August 1985 the members of the First Baptist Church of Pahokee said, "Yes, the Glades needs another Christian school, especially one that is affordable for more members of the community, and we want to provide it." And thus, Pahokee Baptist Academy was begun. Now, 10 years later, it stands as the only completely Christian school in the Glades. Members of the community have said the school continues to provide quality academic instruction with a Christian worldview.

Paul Rose, pastor of the First Baptist Church for the last eight years, notes that the school began with kindergarten classes for ages 4 and 5, and then expanded through grade eight in 1987. After working through the "growing pains" of those early years, the school has focused on providing a strong elementary education to prepare the "whole" child (intellectual, emotional, physical and spiritual) for the crucial adolescent years of middle school.

Tanya Wills, school administrator for the past five years, believes one of the real strengths of the school is the stability of the faculty. "For the current staff and faculty to have an average tenure of over six years in a school that is only 10 years old is quite remarkable," said Mrs. Wills. "That consistency, coupled with a very low teacher/pupil ratio gives our students a great learning opportunity."

In celebration of the success of the past 10 years, and in anticipation of the opportunities of the next 10, Mrs. Wills is proud to unveil a new name for the school - Lake Country Christian School. "We realize that the ministry of the school extends well beyond Pahokee proper, and we want its name to reflect the broader geographical area," said School Board Member Bud Douglas. He also noted that "because of the closing of Christian Day School last year, we feel a greater responsibility to the entire Glades community."

Mrs. Wills also announced that the school will include fifth and sixth grades next year, and applications are now available for grades K-4-sixth.

Persons wanting more information about Lake Country Christian School are invited to visit the facilities at First Baptist Church of Pahokee, 225 Barton Point Rd. You can also reach Mrs. Wills at 924-7133.

The Living Last Supper

Members of the Canal Point United Methodist Church will present the Living Last Supper April 13 at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center. The male members of the church have grown beards for the performance which will portray events that happened at the Last Supper, just prior to Jesus' death.

Local church to present The Living Last Supper April 13

The public is invited to attend the Canal Point United Methodist Church presentation of "The Last Living Supper" to be presented at the Dolly Hand Cultural Arts Center on Holy Thursday, April 13 at 7:30 p.m. Admission will be free.

According to Canal Point United Methodist Church pastor Jackie McMillan, those attending will experience, in a new way, the events at the Last Supper, just prior to Jesus' death, leading to His resurrection (Easter).

The portrayal is centered around Jesus' words, "One of you will betray me," and His disciples response to this startling statement.

If you have seen men in our area growing beards such as Robert Maxwell, Brian Lohmann, Steve Weeks, Bill Blackwell and others, you will understand the commitment of these men to bring realism to your experience.

This presentation has been recommended and endorsed by the ministerial associations of Pahoek, Canal Point and Belle Glade. Jesus and His disciples will be portrayed by Chuck Blackwell, Bill Blackwell, Eustis Blackwell, Ken Lutz, Brian Lohmann, Robert Maxwell, Don McMillan, Rod Ruby, Wayne Sears, Joe Spangler, Dennis Wagner, Steve Weeks and Tommy Yates.

Glades Tinting & Auto Care John Honeycutt, Owner

For people who are interested in conserving money and energy, solar window film can help do both. Auto owners can profit from having this heat-reflective product applied to their windows. The experts in this area in solar window film and its installation are those at Glades Tinting & Auto Care, located in Pahokee at 194 East Main Street, phone 924-9665.

You gain many advantages by having this material installed by Glades Tinting & Auto Care, all stemming from its ability to reflect sun and heat. The glare that fades dyed material is reduced so that the damaging effects of the sun on your upholstery, vinyl and carpet are minimized.

All of these advantages can apply to cars and commercial buildings as well as to homes. With the window film sold and installed by Glades Tinting & Auto Care, you can have both daytime privacy and light in your home, car or business. Call Glades Tinting & Auto Care at 924-9665 today and begin to save money by having solar window film installed on your windows.

Fat Boys Barbeque Restaurant

Who makes the most mouthwatering, finger-lickin' barbecue around? Who has that famous smoked flavor that everyone yearns for? The answer is simple, but their secret recipe is not. Fat Boys is located in South Bay at 255 North US Highway 27, phone 996-5554.

Their taste-testing meaty ribs are smoked and then marinated in their succulent barbecue sauce. Grilled to sizzling perfection, only fresh meat and poultry are used in their secret recipe. You'll also find spicy marinated grilled chicken along with beef, pork and chicken specialties which include tender beef and pork ribs. Of course, lots of barbecue with cole slaw is featured. Welcomed equipment... Gove Elementary School received a $75,000 grant to purchase new playground equipment for handicapped students enrolled in their special education programs. Twenty-five specially-trained staff members oversee the progression of approximately 90 students. The program assists TMH (Trainable Mentally Handicapped) students, EMH (Emotionally Mentally Handicapped) students, and PMH (Profound Mentally Handicapped) students. ## Parents enter classrooms and read with children

Rosenwald Elementary has implemented a new reading program this year called Success For All. Since the start of this new program, the staff at Rosenwald has witnessed remarkable, positive changes in their students. Not only are the students more motivated, but they are really learning how to read better because they are receiving the attention they need.

Of course, no program can be completely successful without the help and support of the parents. Rosenwald recently hosted its very first "Parent Partner Reading Day" on Wednesday, March 29. Parents were invited to their child's reading class where they were able to interact with them during various activities. Many parents were either reading aloud to the class or sitting by their child's side and playing the role of the reading partner during "paired reading."

Other parents joined cooperative reading groups and participated in discussions to help students with their writing assignments.

Following reading, parents were served refreshments in the cafeteria and met with Parent Resource Coordinator Cynthia Gilliam, and Facilitator Chris Salehi to discuss the parents' part in helping their children become better readers. It was truly an exciting and heartwarming experience for all.

The staff at Rosenwald thank all of the parents who were able to visit. There will be another "Parent Partner Reading Day" in May.
